Re: MUR 4884
Future Tech International, Inc., et al.

Dear Mr. Rodriguez:

Pursuant to the Conciliation Agreement by and among the Federal Election Commission ("FEC"), Future Tech International ("FTI"), Len Keller, Juan Ortiz, Greg Narvasa and Lou Leonardo, I am providing herewith FTI documents relating to the political contributions identified in the Conciliation Agreement. Among the documents are: FTI checks to the DNC, documents to or from the DNC and other campaigns, and a handful of documents relating to Marvin Rosen, Charles Stack and/or Howard Glicken.

With respect to the conduit contributions, FTI is not in possession of the contribution checks made payable to the respective federal campaigns. To the extent they still exist, they would presumably be in the possession of the employees who made the contributions and/or their respective banks. Nonetheless, I have contacted counsel for the individual respondents. Counsel for Leonardo and Narvasa have provided me with copies of their clients' contribution checks, and they are enclosed. Counsel for Keller has advised me that Keller cannot locate his canceled check to the Clinton-Gore campaign. Keller has nonetheless located a bank statement reflecting a September 14, 1995 check No. 2138, for $1000 to "Clinton/Gore Pirmary (sic) Com" and a presumably companion record reflecting a deposit of $1000 on September 11, 1995, a few days before check No. 2138 cleared. Keller, through counsel, has provided these documents to me, and they are also enclosed for your review. I have not been able to reach counsel for Ortiz but will provide any information from him as soon as it is received.

I am also enclosing FTI reimbursement checks. There are a couple we have been unable to locate but the vast majority are being produced. In addition, we have available for production, if you wish, voluminous ADP payroll records. These documents reflect FTI's normal payroll, as well as bonuses, to FTI's officers and employees. Consequently, FTI's reimbursements to its employees can be gleaned from these documents. Because these records are substantial, and since FTI's reimbursement to the employees is not in dispute, I will wait to hear from you as to whether you wish to receive these additional records.

Finally, you inquired as to whether FTI personnel have any further information regarding Messrs. Stack, Rosen and Glicken. I have been advised that Mr. Stack had asked FTI's outside counsel at the time, Mitchell Fuerst, for a contribution for the Clinton-Gore campaign in either 1994 or 1995. Fuerst agreed to contribute $1,000. Mark Jimenez separately asked Fuerst to contribute, and Fuerst complied by agreeing to contribute through the Jimenez solicitation the amount he had agreed to contribute through the Stack solicitation. Mr. Stack subsequently called Fuerst again, and Fuerst advised him that he made the contribution through the solicitation of the client, and Stack said this was fine as long as the contribution had been made.

Mr. Leonardo believes that he attended, at Jimenez's request, a 1994 fundraiser for Robert Toricelli at the offices of Greenberg Traurig in Miami. Mr. Rosen introduced himself and asked for Mr. Jimenez. When Leonardo advised him that Mr. Jimenez was not coming, and that he was standing in place of Jimenez, Rosen turned away and did not speak further with Leonardo.

Leonardo traveled with Howard Glicken several years ago to South America. Glicken had offered to promote FTI with his contacts in Korean manufacturing circles. FTI, however, received no new business out of the trip. Separately, Leonardo recalls that his donor card for his 1996 contribution to Clinton/Gore had the name Mark Jimenez crossed out on the "Solicited by" line and the name Howard Glicken was filled in. Leonardo does not know how any of that happened.

If you have any questions, or seek additional documents, please do not hesitate to call me.

Sincerely,

Eric W. Bloom
